

VIKTORIA ISKINA

My name is Viktoria Iskina and I am currently a student at Sciences Po Paris and Swedish Defence University in Stockholm.

As a young professional, I am passionate about diplomacy and international justice system.

I am certain that justice must be waged with most attention dedicated to those who cannot speak for themselves.

TAF - The Animal Fund's mission is precisely that, bringing society a step closer to fighting its own ignorance and blindness.

During my experience with the association, first as an intern and then as a social media advisor, I could not be anything but inspired by TAF's efforts, all in the name of bringing up a generation of conscious global citizens.

Marine life is of crucial importance to our life and environment, yet their safety and well-being is too often overlooked.

It is therefore every individual's responsibility to be mindful and take actions.

We all benefit from the oxygen, to the production of which whales are contributing, but for some reason it is only the few that are paying the price.
