

Hi,

I'm Tom Cuenot, and I'm currently studying political science at ILERI Nice.

Having grown up on the French Riviera, I quickly developed a genuine passion for the sea and the marine world. As I grew up, I've come to realize not only the richness of this environment but also its fragility, which has strengthened my interest in protecting it.

After having the opportunity to complete two internships with The Animal Fund alongside Berit Legrand, I'm very happy to continue this journey as a Youth Ambassador. This role allows me to contribute to animal protection and ocean conservation ; causes that are particularly close to my heart.

I'm pleased to support TAF - The Animal Fund's efforts and to do my part to raise awareness among more people about these issues that are essential to our future.
